DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 11-13 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Strong (5727298).

Strong discloses a device having a jacket body (12), a contact section (the bottom of 20a), a collar section (18) with threaded holes (fig.1 and 22), and screws (36).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 16 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Strong (5727298).

Art Unit: 3723

a. Strong is discussed above.

b. Strong discloses the claimed invention except for three openings with angular distances greater than 90 degrees. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have three openings with angular distances greater than 90 degrees, as a matter of obvious design choice. Applicant has not disclosed any advantages for solving the stated problem. There was not criticality shown for having just three openings greater than 90 degrees.

c. In regard to claim 20, Strong discloses the claimed invention except for using deep drawn metal. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have made the invention using deep drawn metal, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Claims 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wood (4970771) in view of Strong (5727298).

d. Wood discloses a device having a jacket body (10) and a contact section (69) with an axial extension (44) extending axially over a radial extension (44).

e. Wood does not disclose a collar section with threaded holes, and screws.

f. Strong does discloses a device having a collar section (18) with threaded holes (fig. 1 and 22), and screws (36) which allows the tool be anchored and have additional removal force provided by the screw.

g. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the Wood device by providing a collar section with threaded holes, and screws as taught by Strong which allows the tool be anchored and have additional removal force provided by the screw.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 6/26/02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

6. Applicant has amended claim 11 in order to place it in conditions for allowance.

a. The applicant states that device is not both an assembly and disassembly device. The examiner disagrees because if you have assembly component then to reverse the use of the components will give you disassembly components. Applicant discloses one screw 21 as an assembly screw and screw 25 as a disassembly screw. There is no structure being recited in the claims which is special for performing either function. To say something functions in a particular manner is fine but if you do not have an particular structure to support it then the claim is wide open for interpretation. The rest of the claims stand rejected in view of the aforementioned.

7. Applicant amended claim 20.

a. This claim has been rejected in view of the amendments made.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
